Consider Installing a Cellular Communicator

Telephone lines are no longer needed with a cellular communicator. It is becoming common practice to disconnect telephone lines and use cellular phones for home use. When this happens, your alarm system will no longer transmit to the central station without the installation of a cellular communicator. VOIP phone lines also cause problems with the alarm system's transmission of signals. With a cellular communicator, these problems are eliminated. Cellular communicators transmit similarly to your cell phone. For a nominal installation charge and a low monthly fee, you can be free of the requirement of having a telephone line for your alarm system.

DON'T LET A BURGLARY RUIN YOUR HOLIDAY SEASON

During the holidays your mind is distracted, you are in a rush to get out the door, and you forget to activate your alarm system. This situation happens over and over. Don't come back to find your Christmas ruined because of a burglary. Be sure to arm your system.

It is also a good time to send in an alarm signal test. Make sure to walk test your alarm system devices. If you are unsure how to do this, give us a call.

Burglars like easy targets. Make your home difficult to enter. Make sure all doors and windows are locked before leaving the home. Install heavy duty locks and dead bolts, longer screws in the lock strike plate and door hinges, and have security devices installed on all doors and windows.

Never leave anything of value in plain sight. Don't display your Christmas tree and presents in front of a window. It looks great, but it's an easy smash and grab for a burglar.

Keep your comings and goings off of social media. Don't let the whole world know that you will be shopping for the day or out of town for the weekend.

Follow these simple tips and have a happy and safe holiday season.
